Kennedy Does Well In Race In Indiana

By RAYMOND LAHR
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy came out of the Indiana primary today with ballot proof that he is a fast running candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, but aware he must travel farther and faster to prove himself a winner.

By polling roughly 42 percent of the vote in Tuesday's Hoosier presidential primary, Kennedy and his seasoned campaign team scored a clear but not overwhelming victory. He defeated favorite son Gov. Roger D. Branigan, running second, and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who finished a close third.

The primary drew a record turnout from both parties, even though Richard M. Nixon was all alone on the Republican ballot. He had the state's 26 national convention votes in his pocket before the first vote was cast and wound up easily breaking his own record — the 408, 408 votes he won in the 1960 Indiana primary.

McCarthy was hurt, but not fatally, in Indiana. He drew a about 28 percent of the Democratic vote, higher than published polls had indicated. Branigan's share of the vote ran around 30 percent.

With 97 percent of the Democratic vote counted — 4,306 of 4,461 precincts — Kennedy had 311,524 votes or 42 percent of the vote, McCarthy 227,758 votes or 31 percent, and McCarthy 200,838 votes or 27 percent. Nixon piled up 498,104 votes out of 4,301 precincts.

Kennedy got the conquering hero's treatment McCarthy has enjoyed from his campaign workers. They were jammed together to thigh into the Cole Porter Room of the Sheraton-Lake Hotel and shouting "Rock it to 'em Bobby."

"This was a vote for a change in the United States," Kennedy told them. "I might at the moment be the personification of that change."

McCarthy also got squeals of delight from his "children's crusade" faithful when he appeared before them at the half-shaded Claypool Hotel across the street. After all, McCarthy had said he was willing to settle for 25 percent of the vote and was getting more.

Louisville Is Shocked Over News

By GLEN CARPENTER
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—This rather conservative town usually only goes crazy once a year, and that's when the Kentucky Derby is run. But Tuesday it was Saturday again, except with a different ending.

Saturday was the day Dancer's Image won the Derby and Tuesday was the day Forward Pass won it.

After the announcement by Churchill Downs officials that Peter Fuller's colt had been disqualified because urine tests showed the presence of a pain-killing drug, poor Mrs. Mildred Rauner didn't have a moment's peace. She is the race track's switchboard operator and was perhaps the busiest person at the Downs.

"This is the busiest we've been in 33 years since I've been here," she said. "I'm hoarse from talking."

What everybody wanted to know was, "Is my ticket on Forward Pass still good?" Mrs. Rauner was polite, but firm, in answering "No."

The Calumet Farm colt, who finished one and one-half lengths behind Dancer's Image Saturday, was proclaimed the winner, while all other entries were moved up one notch as Dancer's Image was placed last.

Tuesday's action, however, had no effect on Derby wagering, as it did in purse distribution.

The winner's purse now goes to Forward Pass, Calumet's record eighth Derby victor. Francis' Hat was moved up to second and T. V. Commercial to third.

The main question on the city's streets Tuesday, was, "Well, what do you think about that?" There was no need to elaborate in this racing man's town.

Charged "Police State"

Miss Corinne Whitehead, of Kuttawa, and George Bleidt, of Golden Pond, appeared before the House subcommittee on public works appropriations to ask that TVA's land acquisition funds for the project be cut off.

The Land Between the Lakes residents, originally several thousand of them, have fought a rear-guard battle against the demonstration project without success. Bleidt acknowledged yesterday that they will probably lose in the end.

TVA has demonstrated how a police state can operate in the United States, and how the generation of fear, doubt, confusion and the use of deceptive tactics can destroy the citizen's morale, his hope in justice and his faith in his government," Bleidt said.

Bleidt said he and other property owners who have refused entry to their property by TVA appraisers have been harassed and "threatened that postponing appraisal would jeopardize their chances of a good price."

Bleidt himself used to be postmaster of Golden Pond but he charged he lost his job because TVA arranged to have the post office closed.

Both he and Miss Whitehead said TVA has told the holdout families that they must sell by May 31 or court action will be started.

Miss Whitehead said TVA's land buying has produced "emotional wreckage" among the people who used to live and work in the remote area between the two lakes.

No other sedan can make this statement.

"One trunk to a car" has been sedan dogma ever since sedans began. (And why not? Isn't it obvious that a car can't have two trunks? After all, how can you add a trunk without subtracting an engine?)

Well, you know how much we worry about dogma.

So our new VW Fastback Sedan not only has two good-sized trunks, but—since even a Volkswagen can't get along without an engine—an engine.

(What we did was to make the engine only 16 inches high and tuck it underneath the rear trunk.)

Of course, while our Fastback may be the first two-trunked sedan, it's still a Volkswagen.

So it can make a couple of more statements most other sedans can't make.

Gas mileage: up to 27 mpg. The price: $1,877.75.

But best of all, with this car what you gain in function you don't lose in style. Shut both trunks and you have a dashing little fastback.

Believers in the "one trunk to a car" dogma can call us heretics. But at least we're good-looking heretics.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

NO BOWING TO MOBS
Even as the "no-win" elements are opposed to the use of massive force to achieve an American victory in Vietnam, they are opposed to the employment of adequate police measures to restore law and order to the cities of America.

Setting forth the "no-win" line on riots, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark recently told the American Society of Newspaper Editors: "I do not believe that the use of deadly force by law enforcement officers is permissible except in self-defense or when it is necessary to protect the lives of others."

Mr. Clark's statement in effect was a reply to Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago who had criticized his own police for not shooting looters and arsonists. The Mayor issued orders that deadly force be used in future outbreaks of violence.

The Attorney General's weak argument was that shooting of looters could lead to a "very dangerous escalation" of racial violence in the cities. His words must have had a sweet sound to the apostles of street violence whose slogan is "burn baby, burn."

They have had the word from the chief law enforcement officer of the federal government that protecting the lives of looters and arsonists is more important than stopping barbaric outbreaks in America's towns and cities.

In effect saying that the lives of lawbreakers come ahead of defense of property or the prevention of disastrous fires, Mr. Clark turns his back on every principle of law and practice of law enforcement. Shooting of looters always has been standard practice in America. Moreover, police are regularly authorized to shoot burglars or other persons who resist arrest or who are fleeing from the scene of a crime and will not stop.

Are the police now to be deprived of that right? Are the police of America to be virtually disarmed? Mr. Clark's statement points to a wholly new attitude regarding crimes against property.

The illogic of Mr. Clark's statement is underscored by the fact that a property owner is fully entitled under the law to use firearms to protect his property. If a homeowner or the owner of a store is legally entitled to shoot a looter or an arsonist, why should a policeman not have that right?

Mr. Clark's statement carries the suggestion of a curious philosophy—the philosophy that property is not important. But ownership of property, in the American system, is a fundamental civil right. A home or a store is the product of an individual's enterprise or the labor and savings of a number of people. Life's struggle has gone into every private dwelling and business in this country. Society can't just say "sorry."

What deserves defense is, first of all, the law-abiding citizen's life, and then the property of that type of good citizen. The lawbreaker is entitled to only one thing from a responsible society—punishment for his misdeeds. And to be credible, local government has to be prepared to use adequate force against lawbreakers. In the case of riots, credibility requires the use of deadly force.

As for Mr. Clark's fear of escalation, that fear is shameful. Is the United States to admit that it is afraid to enforce the law, afraid to take rioters in hand? If that is the case, we are fast approaching a state of chaos in this country. We are virtually admitting that criminal elements have a veto on lawful government. A government that fears to crack down—and crack down hard—on rioters is a government that is about to fall and that is bowing to the dictates of street mobs.

Obviously, government—federal, state or local—must not bow to the mob. If confronted with rising violence, it must meet that violence with lawful force in what ever amount is needed. Otherwise, anarchy will prevail. No one's life, let alone his property, will be safe if Atty. Clark's policy prevails.

Miss Tennie Robbins Exchanges Wedding Vows With Frederic A. Triplett, Jr., In Ceremony At First Methodist Church

MRS. FREDERIC A. TRIPLETT, JR.

The marriage of Miss Tennie Robbins and Frederic A. Triplett, Jr., was solemnized on Thursday, April 11, at four o'clock in the afternoon at the First Methodist Church in Murray.

Rev. Lloyd Ramey performed the single ceremony in front of the altar decorated with white gladioli and chrysanthemums flanked by the seven branched candelabra, with the candles being lighted by the ushers.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Raymond Hazen Robbins and the late Mr. Robbins of 412 North Seventh Street, Murray. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Triplett, Sr., of Owensboro.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Richard Farrell, organist. Miss Nancy Bratcher of Owensboro, friend of the bride, soloist, sang "The Song of Ruth" before the ceremony.

Bride's Dress
Given in marriage by her uncle, Homer W. Robbins,

Charlton Heights, W. Va., the bride was lovely in her street length bridal dress of white crepe, fashioned fitted style, with bell shaped venetian lace wrist length sleeves. Her veil, shoulder length, was fastened with a petaled crown with lilies of the valley. Her jewelry was a necklace of pearls, gift of the groom, and small pearl earrings.

She carried a beautiful cascade of orchids and feathered carnations.

Miss Cary Triplett, sister of the groom, was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Robbins and Miss Martha Robbins, sisters of the bride.

The attendants all wore identical street length dresses of pale pink crepe with matching accessories and carried French bouquets centered with pink roses surrounded by seafoam statice and pink carnations.

Glover Cary III of Owensboro served his cousin as best man. The ushers were Charles Jones and Steven Hughes of Owensboro.

The bride's mother chose for the wedding a powder blue dress of French voile with matching coat. Her corsage was a pale yellow cymbidium orchid.

Mrs. Triplett, the groom's mother, was attired in a silk suit of turquoise. Her corsage was also a cymbidium orchid in shades of white and dark blue.

The groom's grandmother, Mrs. Robert Samuels Triplett, wore a beige costume with a white orchid corsage.

Reception
Following the ceremony the reception was held in the social hall of the church.

The beautifully appointed bride's table was overlaid with a pink cloth and centered with an arrangement of white stock and mums.

Punch was served from the silver punch bowl by Miss Rita Hurd and Miss Judy Hargis.

Backstairs At The White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House. The change in administration next January will revive an archaic problem—removal of important records from the White House.

When the presidency changes hands, the outgoing chief executive has the right, more by custom than any specific law, to take with him virtually all files, records and correspondence.

As a veteran career man at the White House said recently, "They take everything but the telephone book and the Gideon Bible."

President Johnson is expected to be no exception. He plans to deposit his papers in a special library being built for him on the University of Texas campus, following the practice of many presidents before him.

Files to Move

And it will make little difference whether a Republican or Democrat is elected as Johnson's successor—the files will be boxed and sent to Texas. If the incoming administration needs copies of these files, they are nowhere as readily available as they were in the past. The files of the Federal Register and in the official weekly compilation of presidential documents published by the Government Printing Office.

While alternate sources are available, they are nowhere as complete as actual White House files. And because of their scattered locations, it can be a trouble for a new administration to run down copies of urgently needed records of a previous president.

New administrations, according to veteran White House employees, have another common quality. They invariably go through a period of indignant sensitivity to hearing any sort of advice on how operating problems were handled by prior administrations.

A savvy and long-time career employee of the White House permanent staff, which is relatively small, advised his people as the Johnson staff was taking over in late 1963, "Whatever you do, make no reference to 'this is how we do it.'"

Members of the Eisenhower staff still recall the atmosphere in 1961 when they were being replaced by Kennedy appointees.

One of the Eisenhower people said recently, "I still recall how they asked almost no questions at all. As politely as possible, all they wanted us to do was get the hell out."

Asked Questions

Interestingly, the Eisenhower staffers recall that this attitude did not seem to apply to the new president, himself. He asked countless questions of Eisenhower representatives.

It is on lower echelons that animosity usually is found in these expectedly traumatic periods of transition.

In long-term history, the Eisenhower-Kennedy transition apparently was fairly smooth. But when Harry Truman suddenly took over for Roosevelt and when Johnson was catapulted into office by Kennedy's assassination, the transition periods were considerably less than harmonious.

One Truman staff member expressed loud worries that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was moving too much furniture out of the White House. The president heard about this associate's concern and told him to shut up.

When Kennedy died, it was expected that his widow and staff would follow custom and take all of his papers from the White House. More than papers, however, the Kennedy family removed literally thousands of photographs which had been made by cameramen. Apparently the Johnsons also will take their voluminous photographic files when they depart next year.

Hairy Hazard

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Alden N. Haffner, an expert on vision, says long-haired hippies and teen-agers pose a hazard on the highways when they get behind the wheel of a car, or while along on motorcycles or motorcycles with their long locks flowing.

"Stray locks of hair dangling in front of or blowing into the eyes can and do cause highway accidents," says Haffner who is a consultant to the Society for Visual Care. Although a danger at all times, he says, "free-flying hair is particularly dangerous at those times when vision is normally a problem anyhow, for example, at dawn, dusk or on rainy nights."

FIRST IN 222 YEARS — Dr. Suzanne Keller, 41, a sociologist, was appointed to full rights of a professorial tenure at Princeton University, Princeton, N.J., marking the first time a woman has been so honored in the 222-year history of the university.

The company serves more than 1 million persons daily in 1,994 luncheonettes, restaurants and cafeterias in the United States and Canada.

Truman In Good Health As 84 Nears

By MARGARET RICHARDS
INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)

Harry S. Truman's 84th year, especially its springtime, has been good to him.

The former president's birthday which is today, May 8 is in apparently better health than he has enjoyed in a long time. He almost certainly is feeling better than on his 83rd birthday, when for the first time he bypassed the annual celebration observed in his honor by friends of a lifetime.

They will meet again today to pay tribute to a man they esteem first as an old and loyal friend and secondly as a world statesman and the 33rd President of the United States. But Truman again will be absent. The recent improvement in his health, the increased vigor noted by everyone with whom he has had contact, does not extend to the excitement of crowds.

Gait Steadier

Truman's gait is steadier than it was a year ago. He has more pep, there's fire in his voice when the occasion demands, and he even has ventured a walk, alone, to the town square.

For about 18 months Truman had kept closely to the big old house on Delaware Street. Even his neighbors had only rare and fleeting glimpses of him, as he entered a car or returned from an afternoon ride with his wife or some friend.

So fellow townsmen gaped in amazement when they saw Truman strolling along on a balmy April day, greeting passersby and exchanging pleasantries with those he knew.

He had slipped out of the Truman yard and away from his concerned and watchful wife, as well as his part-time chauffeur and long-time friend, former police officer, Mike Westwood. Truman disappeared down a nearby alley and walked two blocks to his barbershop.

There Westwood found him, bestowing bits of Trumanesque wit on barbershop customers.

Cautious On Politics

He has acquired a caution toward political subjects that was never known in the "give em hell" era.

Truman rarely makes a public pronouncement, but when he does, the same views of old, the same principles of loyalty, and the same philosophy show through.

Truman said when he left the White House and has repeated many times since that only one man has the necessary information to make decisions in behalf of the nation, and that man is the president.

About the time of his 83rd birthday, when both hawks and doves were pecking at White House Vietnam policy, Truman voiced his unqualified support of Lyndon B. Johnson's handling of affairs, foreign and domestic.

Recently Truman's renewed strength permitted him to travel to Key West, Fla., for a two-week stay in the haunts he loved during his White House years. He told reporters there that Johnson was a sure thing for renomination and re-election.

Almost as soon as Johnson announced, a few days later, that he would not serve another term, Truman accepted the honorary chairmanship of the Humphrey for President committee, throwing his support to the man closest to Johnson.

Expects To Be 90

When he was 80 he remarked that he expected to live to be 90.

"I've got about 10 more years' work to be done around here," he explained with a sweep of his hand.

Truman's absence from his office indicates no lack of touch with what is going on in the world.

Truman and his wife read, listen to the music he loves, or perhaps watch television, particularly documentaries.

The early morning walks Truman used to take, with reporters running after him and gasping for breath, were discontinued years ago. But he remains an early riser.

Starlet Contest

PALISADES, N.J. (UPI) — The Miss American Starlet Contest, a beauty pageant for single girls 17 through 25, will be held at Palisades Amusement Park here this summer.

The contestants will be judged in bathing suits and the winner will receive a trip to Hollywood plus a role in a motion picture.

Investigation Into Drugging Of Dancer's Image Planned

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A two-pronged investigation into the drugging and subsequent disqualification of Kentucky Derby winner Dancer's Image was underway today following Tuesday's stunning announcement by Churchill Downs race track that a pain-killing drug was detected in a urine sample taken from the 3-year-old colt following his victory Saturday.

Following his announcement of the first disqualification in 54 runnings of America's most prestigious horse race, Wathen Knebelkamp, president of Churchill Downs, said the track's security forces and representatives of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations were conducting an investigation into the drugging at the request of the state stewards.

In addition, Peter Fuller, the owner of Dancer's Image, revealed upon his arrival home at Boston Tuesday night that he plans to conduct an investigation.

Hearing Planned
Fuller, and his trainer Lou Cavalaris, upon whom falls the responsibility for the condition of horses he enters in a race, were informed of the stewards' findings Monday night and were told a hearing would be held no later than next Monday.

Fuller, when asked if he planned to retain Cavalaris, said, "I'm not only going to keep my trainer on, but if anybody should suspend my trainer, I plan to conduct an investigation."

The Boston automobile dealer then added, "I'm going to do that anyway into this matter and offer a large financial reward to find out who the individual or individuals were who tampered with this horse."

The immediate effect of the disqualification was to move Dancer's Image from first to last in the 14 horse field with runner-up Forward Pass being declared the official winner and his owner, Mrs. Gene Markey of Calumet Farm, given the $122,600 first prize and the $5,000 gold cup. All the other horses also moved up one notch in the official result.

Jockey Losses Out
The disqualification also deprived jockey Bobby Ussery of becoming the first rider in 66 years to post back-to-back Derby victories and gave Milo Valenzuela, Forward Pass rider, his second Derby win. The stewards' finding could also result in a 60-day suspension for Cavalaris.

However, those not affected by the disqualification are any persons who may have made a wager on the race. According to racing rules, all bets stand on the original finish—Dancer's Image, Forward Pass and Francis's Hat.

Knebelkamp's official explanation of the disqualification was that the pain-killer phenylbutazone and—or a derivative thereof—was found in the post-race urine analysis of Dancer's Image.

Kentucky racing rules state that a urine analysis shall be taken from the winner of every race and another horse from the race chosen by lot. The "other" horse involved this time was Kentucky Sherry and his tests proved negative.

In his statement Tuesday night, Fuller suggested "the urine bottles could have been switched. I don't say they were," said Fuller, "they could have been. There are a number of things that were not as we wished that they were."

"A Churchill Downs official said that there was no security whatsoever at the track, and that anybody on the backstretch could have done something to the horse," Fuller added.

A Churchill Downs spokesman emphasized that the drug found in the urine analysis "is not a stimulant," that is, a drug which would "pep up" a horse to run better. However, one veterinarian said it would have the effect of making a horse run better because it would relieve him of any pain.

Despite the turn of events, Fuller said he still planned to start Dancer's Image in the Pre-Kness Stakes, the second jewel in racing's Triple Crown, at Pimlico on May 18.

Calloway County and Murray High will play for the championship of the Fourth District Baseball Tournament this afternoon at 3:30.

The two teams won this right by winning the semi-final games played yesterday. Calloway defeated North Marshall 4-0 and Murray won over cross-town rival University School 13 to 8.

HAWKS MOVE
NEW YORK (AP) — The shift of the Hawks franchise from St. Louis to Atlanta was unanimously approved Tuesday by the National Basketball Association's Board of Governors.

A Georgia group, headed by former Gov. Carl Sanders, purchased the team from Ben Ker last Saturday for an estimated $2.5 million.

Rookie Tom Matchick slammed a pinch double with two out in the ninth to score Detroit's only run as the Tigers edged Washington 2-1, Boston edged Washington 3-2, Minnesota nipped Oakland 2-1 and Chicago drubbed California 6-4.

In the National League, New York topped St. Louis 4-2, Houston beat San Francisco 7-1, Philadelphia topped Cincinnati 5-2, Atlanta nipped Pittsburgh 2-1 and Los Angeles topped Chicago 2-1.

Cleveland Indians Belt The New York Yankees Tuesday

UPI Sports Writer
The most anonymous players in baseball these days are the members of the Cleveland Indians' bullpen brigade.

And manager Alvin Dark hopes it stays that way.

With his starting rotation bringing back memories of the Lemon, Wynn, Garcia, Feller era, a visitor to the Indian clubhouse Tuesday night told Dark that he wasn't getting much chance to see his bullpen.

"I don't want to look at them at all," Dark grinned as he noted his four starters have allowed just four runs in the last 54 innings while chalking up six straight victories.

It was Luis Tiant's turn Tuesday night and he hurled his third straight shutout on a five-hitter while the Indians belted the New York Yankees 9-0. The other members of the foursome are Sam McDowell, Steve Hargan and Sonny Siebert.

Low Averages
Tiant is now 4-2 this season with a 1.25 ERA while McDowell has a 3-1 mark and a 1.79 ERA. But since McDowell has given up three runs in his last two starts, he quipped, "with my three runs, they probably won't even let me back in the starting rotation now."

Hargan is 2-3 with a 2.48 ERA and Siebert is 3-2 with a 3.24 ERA—the highest on the team.

In the other American League games, Detroit snapped Baltimore's eight-game winning streak 2-1, Boston edged Washington 3-2, Minnesota nipped Oakland 2-1 and Chicago drubbed California 6-4.
